Teaching in the Hot Zone Holds Many Rewards For Students, Teachers Alike

By JOSIE BENNETT

Last year this winter I was working quite a bit with students in the Hot Zone, or senior citizens class, at the Montclair Senior Center. It was a pleasurable experience to know that I was making a difference in the lives of these wonderful seniors. In fact, I received one letter that read, “Just wanted to tell you how much your class helped me. You taught me how to use the internet.”

It is worth noting that these seniors, as we call them, are the bright stars in our society. I cannot imagine our world without their wisdom and experience. They have lived through many changes in our society and have witnessed the evolution of technology. The Hot Zone classes provide an opportunity for these seniors to continue their education and stay connected to the world around them.
