

Bloomfield Mandolin Orch. To Perform In Cranford

CRANFORD — The Friends of the Cranford Public Library will sponsor a performance by the Bloomfield Mandolin Orchestra on Monday, June 22, at 7:30 p.m. It will take place in the Cranford Community Center, located at 220 Walnut Avenue. Admission to the program is free and all are welcome.

Currently celebrating its 74th season, the Bloomfield Mandolin Orchestra is the last remaining orchestra of its kind in New Jersey. The origins of the orchestra go back to 1941, when a group of six New Jersey musicians met in the backroom of a barbershop to discuss their dream of forming a mandolin orchestra. In 1945 they formed the Orange and Vicinities

Mandolin Society, under the direction of Elia Ciricillo; in the 1960s, members of four different mandolin orchestras merged to form the Bloomfield Mandolin Orchestra. The orchestra is made up of volunteer musicians from northern and central New Jersey, including mandola player Peter Longo, who has been a member of the orchestra since its founding.

For questions about the program on June 22, call the Cranford Public Library at (908) 709-7272 or e-mail library@cranfordnj.org. For a full list of upcoming library programs and events, visit the library's website at cranford.com/library and click on the Events and Programs tab. The Cranford Public Library is located at 224 Walnut Avenue.
