Cabrales, Hodges Named Outstanding Teachers

WESTFIELD – Westfield Public School teachers Christine Cabrales and Erika Hodges were named Outstanding Intermediate School Teachers for 2015 by the Optimist Club of Westfield and were honored by the Westfield Board of Education on June 9. Resolutions were presented to the teachers by Board President Richard Mattessich at the meeting.
 Ms. Cabrales and Ms. Hodges are the recipients of the 18th annual Optimist award, established in 1998 to recognize the importance of teaching in the intermediate grades. The award is presented annually to two Westfield teachers -- one each from Edison and Roosevelt Intermediate Schools.
 Ms. Cabrales is in her 14th year as a Physical Education/Health teacher at Edison Intermediate School in Westfield, where she instructs students in grades 6 through 8. She holds a Bachelor of Science degree in Health and Physical Education from the University of Delaware. She is a member of SHAPE America (Society of Health and Physical Educators), NIAHPERD (New Jersey Alliance for Health, Physical Education, Recreation, and Dance), and USA Volleyball. Currently the 8th grade volleyball coach, Mrs. Cabrales also has served as the coach of girls JV tennis and 8th grade softball.

 A letter of nomination from a former student states, "Her students were her number one priority. She came to school ready to make an impact." A colleague wrote, "She brings her positive attitude, enthusiasm, and love of teaching and appreciation for competitive play with her to work every day. She is kind, patient and considerate to everyone." Another colleague added, "Not only does she build a positive rapport with students, but she motivates them to always do their best and strive to reach their goals."
 In commenting on receiving the Optimist Award, Ms. Cabrales said, "I am honored to join such a remarkable and distinguished group of educators who have received this award. I'm humbled because there are simply so many outstanding, passionate and creative educators at Edison Intermediate School. I'm extremely proud to represent a subject that promotes a healthy and active lifestyle."
 Ms. Hodges is a 7th grade Language Arts teacher, who is in her 10th year at Roosevelt Intermediate School in Westfield.
 Ms. Hodges earned a Bachelor of Science degree in Elementary Science Education from the University of Delaware, and is certified in Grade K-5 elementary and a specialization in Language Arts, grades 5-8.
 In nominating Ms. Hodges, a student describes her as "nice, caring, and fun." Another student wrote, "She is an overall awesome person and she also is a really great teacher. She makes sure everyone understands. She is the greatest teacher and always brightens everyone's day." A current 7th grader added, "One thing that I like the most about her is that she makes the work fun, makes us work hard, and she's happy to help you when you need help."
 In commenting on being selected for the Optimist Award, Ms. Hodges said, "For years I have carried around a small post-it note, a quote from author Mitch Albom: 'Youth, like pristine glass, absorbs the prints of its handlers' -- if not to remind myself of the importance of my job, but to encourage myself to be thoughtful in my classroom and cognizant of my position, to incorporate learning and laughter on a daily basis, to present myself to my students as a real person with flaws and strengths. I feel incredibly fortunate to love my profession and feel challenged by it every day. It's even more rewarding to work in a school district that values their teachers by honoring them. But it isn't the honor that I treasure most. It's the small notes, emails, and comments I have received from my colleagues, my students, and their families over the years that I hold close to my heart as I accept the honor of Teacher of the Year."
