The Man Behind The Badge

COPS...THEY'RE HUMAN TOO

May 15, 1966 marks the beginning of National Police Week. Throughout our country, accolades are being showered upon these defenders of law and order who place their lives in jeopardy every day so that we may know peace and security. We offer this article as a tribute to our own fine Police force.

COPS are human (believe it or not). They come in both sexes but mostly males. They also come in various sizes. This sometimes depends on whether you are looking for one or trying to hide something. However, they are mostly big.

Cops are found everywhere - on land, in cars, on horses, sometimes in your hair. In spite of the fact that "you can't find one when you want one," they are usually there when you do need one. The best way to get one is to pick up the phone.

Cops deliver lectures, babies and bad news. They are required to have the wisdom of Solomon, the disposition of a lamb and muscles of steel and are often accused of having a heart to belong to other people.

A cop sees more misery, bloodshed, trouble, and surprises than the average person. Like the postman, cops can't be out in all kinds of weather. His uniform changes with the climate, but his outlook on life remains about the same - mostly a blank, but hoping for a better world.

Cops like days off, vacations, and coffee. They don't like auto horns, family fights, and anonymous letter writers. They have unions, but they can't strike. They must be impartial, courteous, and always remember the slogan "At your service." This is sometimes hard, especially when a character reminds him, "I'm a taxpayer, I pay your salary.

Cops get medals for saving lives, stopping runaway horses, and shooting it out with the bandits (once in a while his widow gets the medal). But sometimes, the most rewarding moments come when, after some small kindness to an older person, he feels the warm hand clasp, look into grateful eyes and hears, "Thank you and God bless you, son.

When friends and admirers of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Garbe of Scotch Plains, gather Saturday evening at the Temple Emanuel, Westfield, to witness United States Senator Clifford P. Case present the Garbes with the B'nai B'rith Citizenship and Civic Affairs Award, they will be witnessing a tribute well deserved by this remarkable couple.

During World War II, Bill and his friend, Elwood Van Allen, became aware that the few local area newspapers were too broad and general to give Scotch Plains servicemen very much of the local news. They thought that men away from home would like something more "folky"; something that would bring Home into their far-flung stations. The idea took shape in the form of the Scotch Plainsman. Bill took care of the news while "Van" took over the business end, and 1200 copies, all mailed first class, brought a bit of Scotch Plains to all corners of the world. Mrs. Garbe, Myrtle, had the job of keeping an ever-changing mailing list up to date. Bill appreciatively remembers that the local business community, Westfield banks and industries in Garwood underwrote the expenses of printing and mailing this unique paper. He prizes the letters he received from servicemen who had never been home.

It's A Great Day For The Lions

The Fanwood Lions Club will sponsor their 15th annual "Lions Day" on Saturday May 14 at LaGrande Playground. Rain date will be May 21.

The annual "Lions Day" is a day of fun for the children. Activities will include games of chance, horses, ferris wheel, fortune tellers, refreshments, cotton candy and many other features.

General chairman of the affair is John Solomon, Refreshment chairman, Pete Faust; and Publicity chairman, "Red" Crandell.
YES Business Up, Need More Volunteers

Business at the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Youth Employment Office increased by 34% for the year ending May 1 according to a report prepared by Administrative Director, F. Raymond Stover, office manager. The annual meeting of the organization held at Park Junior High School job orders received numbered 794 as compared to 563 the previous year, which was the first year of operation. Of these, 837 were requests by homeowners, 199 from businesses. Total youth earnings at 100% of which 421 are presently active.

The major need at this time, according to Mrs. Stover, is for volunteer office workers. "We have 20 and could use 20 more," she said. A total of 1250 hours was contributed by volunteers last year.

Future plans include additional workshops for training youth and personnel training for staff members.

A move from the present office at 366 Forest Road to the Police Station's office building on Park Ave. next to the Municipal Building is planned within the next few weeks, as present quarters will be torn down to make way for the new library.

David Ringle, retiring as president after guiding the organization for its first two years paid tribute to the community-wide support which Y.E.S. has received. Attending the meeting were representatives from many civic organizations.

Scholarship Winner

The Scotch Plains-Fanwood Joint Parent-Teacher Association has announced that Alexandra Tjaden is scholarship recipient. Planning to major in elementary education at Glassboro State College, Miss Tjaden is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Tjaden of Crest Lane, Scotch Plains. She has been active in the high school band, orchestra, Student Council, and a church youth group, and is a member of the Future Teachers of America. Among her hobbies are horseback riding, bowling, and playing the guitar and clarinet.

COOPERATIVE OFFICE EDUCATION A Unique Program

I "How to Succeed in the Business World by Bailey Tying" might well be the motto of a group of Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School seniors who have organized a business to provide office facilities to local organizations who may not have adequate facilities to receive mail and handle their business transactions. The program, under the direction of the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School Seniors in Commercial Education class, is the result of a unique program of Cooperative Office Education.

Supplementing education with experience, students attend school during morning hours (taking required academic subjects plus those related to the field of office occupations) and work in area offices Mondays through Fridays. This week the students at Rainville in Scotch Plains received 25 new clients in addition to their 40 regular ones. They have handled 12,000 legal documents, 16,000 letters, and 1,000 other office tasks, including transcribing and typewriting.

The program was started two years ago by the New Jersey Department of Education, Vocational Division, and the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School students are among the first to benefit from the program. Among the students involved are Robert Lonas, former editor of the Scotch Plains Times and Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School student body president, and his classmate, Jane Massop who is simply the student with the most opportunities to learn. Jane, a senior in high school, is a cooperative office education student, and is working at the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School office. She has been working with the New Jersey Department of Education, Vocational Division, for two years. She has been working with the New Jersey Department of Education, Vocational Division, for two years. She has been working with the New Jersey Department of Education, Vocational Division, for two years. She has been working with the New Jersey Department of Education, Vocational Division, for two years.

Jane's duties include interviewing students and employers, assisting in the practical education of Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School students, and helping the school's business office staff handle the school's mail. Jane's duties are varied and challenging, and she enjoys every minute of her work. She is confident that the skills she is learning in the program will be valuable to her in the future.

The program is a great way for students to gain valuable work experience and learn important skills. It is a unique program that provides an excellent opportunity for students to learn while they work. It is a program that should be continued and expanded.

In 1955 Bill was confined to the Railway General Hospital, Myrle spent her days between Myrle’s, Bill established a like scholarship for girls graduating from the Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School. To date, fifteen young men and five young women have walked forth from their college campus determined to emulate the affection, trust and generosily the Garbes have shown them.

Other honors have been bestowed on them; a testimonial dinner given by the American Legion; her annual Christmas luncheon with all their scholarship recipients; but none will be more fondly remembered then the B’nai Brith Citizenship and Civic Affairs Award they will receive Saturday.

Ready for trouble before it strikes
(one of the secrets of providing dependable electric service)

We get ready for a lightning storm before it strikes, thanks to a unique electronic warning system. Storm-activated indicators, strategically located, pick up danger signals when a storm is many miles away. This is part of the system we use to mobilize our forces in advance when trouble is approaching. It costs money. It takes time and effort. And occasionally the standby pick-up danger signals when a storm is many miles away. This is part of the nation's electric lighting. It costs money. It takes time and effort. YMCA Corner

"We've never had it as good!
That is the kind of statement we hear around the "Y" these days. The latest membership report shows an all-time high of 833 fully paid active members, plus 102 sustaining members, and 562 social members, for a grand total of 1,517 different people actually involved in this YMCA. Right now, our swim lesson class is filled to capacity, both of our pre-school groups are at capacity, most after school classes are heavily attended and the summer day camp programs are enjoying record pre-enrollments. We are candidly happy and proud that we are able to serve as many people in our community as we do...and we are able to be of your support. Because you think that the YMCA is important to you, you support it and the "Y" can function and grow.

Why the YMCA Important to you?...
...because the YMCA provides a varied program to help your youngsters and the youngsters of your community become better citizens.
...because this program is a leisure time program, Young people take part in the "Y" program voluntarily...because they want to, What better climate for training and teaching?
...because the "Y" gives an outlet for meaningful volunteer service...as board and committee members, club leaders and coaches, contributors of time, energy and substance. This is also a part of the YMCA program, one which benefits the adults who serve as well as the young people.
...because the YMCA permeates its purposes through the young people in its program. They learn that they also have a responsibility of service, and when they become adults they will in turn serve...will help with the next generation what they have received. It will go on and on and on...and our country will be richer because of it.

We mentioned that our pre-school age programs are filled to capacity. This has been the case all year. Actually, there was a long waiting list for the morning Gym Jams program when we opened in October, and since few people dropped out, we just never could accommodate everyone. Now we are accepting registrations for the October 1966 through May 1967. Gym Jams and we strongly urge an early registration if you are interested in this activity. To be eligible your boy or girl must be 4 years old on or before January 1, 1967. Gym Jams are held every Tuesday and Thursday morning from 9:15 to 11:30, and consistent of gym, arts and crafts and song and story time, with the emphasis placed on coordination development in the gym. The class is divided into three groups of twelve children and each has an adult instructor. The cost for this is $12.00 per month. Further information is available at the YMCA.

Rags And Old Iron

One Man's Trash...Another Man's Treasure

By JOAN HONMAN
Staff Writer

Here in our sister towns of Scotch Plains and Fanwood, two Spring Sundays have been oddly wrought with red pencil on calendars all about town; Sunday, April 24th in Scotch Plains, Sunday, May 9th in Scotch Plains. Ah, for Fanwood, their Biggest Sunday of the Year is now a bygone until 1967 - but for the residents of Scotch Plains, the Day of Days is yet to come. Of what historic events do we speak? Why are these two Sundays so special? So busy? So fraught with hectic activity? Why, they're the dates of Clean-Up Days, silly! Who could forget? It's that one magical Sunday every Spring when pretty, tree-lined, suburban life become miraculously transformed, within a matter of hours, into one class, lawn-and-all, dreamplace. As we pause midway between the F.C.U.D. (Fanwood Clean-Up Days) and the S.P.C.U.D. (you guess this one), we of the Scotch Plains Times shall endeavor to give our readers a clear picture of the situation as it now stands:

IN FANWOOD: a town of distraught home-owners, hemmed in by their junk, impatiently waiting for their big chance.

During the three-day period of F.C.U.D., we sent a special agent on location into one Fanwood street, for a blow by blow description of just what transpired. We humbly hope the following account may be of some assistance to Scotch Plains residents, as they stand on the threshold of their three-day cleaning binge.

REPORT: SUNDAY, APRIL 24

9:00 a.m. to noon: Several families up and down block turn out, already strung out, for Sunday church services, Day is cloudy and overcast, but street still shows signs of the season (well-trimmed lawns, beds of nodding daffodils, a few forsythia bushes beginning to bud). Scene is pastoral, peaceful, well-ordered - typical Sunday in the suburbs.

Noon to 2 p.m.: - No action.

2:00 p.m.: - A sprinkling of activity begins. Many residents emerge in various states of disarray. Come a day like this - the worst imaginable. The S. family deposits curb-side three sturdy wooden rocking chairs which have seen fifteen years of faithful service, family, service.

2:05 p.m.: - The C. family meander out the door, They spot the rockers. For the porch! Yes, area, Rockers leave curb, enter C.home.

2:15 p.m.: - A large white Victorian chest of drawers is lugged down the driveway by Mr. and Mrs. M. She appears sad, Reports she got it at house sale for $4. Mr. M. assures us it is out of the question - drawers won't work, peeling veneer can never be repaired.

2:20 p.m.: - Chest is rescued by the Fs. Although forewarned of condition, they decide it's worth a chance.

2:25 p.m.: - Those rings at the M. home. It is Mrs. X, "Did you just put out a chest of drawers? Where is it? I wanted it!"

2:30 p.m.: - The Fs and the Ms arrive. The Fs dump said chest at curb. It now advances five spaces to cross the street, for adoption by the Xs.

3:00 p.m.: - Things are boiling by now. Fast action - much junk. One house has three broken tables, two sleds, one nearly wrapped package of 32 curtain rods, one carton broken toys. Next house; large glass storm door, one soggy couch, Next: One potty seat, broken typewriter, one water boiler.

Fourth house; two lampshades, one leather chair (with glitch, two windowboxes, components of one washing machine, parts of split rail fence [later voted block winners]). Fifth house; 500 old magazines, two broken shovels, one wicker dog bed, three foam rubber cushions.

3:15 p.m.: - Split rail fence disappears. It'll be firewood next winter, in the home door next, Ten duels currently underway.

3:25 p.m.: - Three-year-old child crying, Mean father said she couldn't keep potty seat she found to use for her doll.

3:30 p.m.: - Long black Cadillac slowly wending way along street. Stops to collect lampshades, stops to investigate typewriter.

3:45 p.m.: - More action. Pool table, slightly damaged, emerges from home. So is promtly whisked away by handyman W.

6:00 p.m.: - Children now jumping on soggy couch.

6:15 p.m.: - Storm window accidentally broken, Glass fragments flee gutter. Carton of broken glass is upended over sidewalk.

6:30 p.m.: - Couch collapses, Two children hurt. Saby rain begins to fall, (Ed. Note: par for the course, ALWAYS rains on Clean-Up Days)

7:00 p.m.: - Steady crush of traffic now. All varieties of autos, pickup trucks, many 12 and 13 year-old boys on bikes. All rummage through junk.

7:20 p.m.: - Nervous parents round up GOOD bikes, tractors, fire engines, jack-knifeed about street and lock them in garages.

7:30 p.m.: - Same old white chest curbside again. Now, the Scotch Plains Times offers a warning, written in lipstick. Says "Don't bother!"

7:50 p.m.: - Rain continues. Couch now well soaked. Several wet cartons have split.

8-12:30 p.m.: - Cars still stream by, Flashlights in use, searching thru piles.

Monday, April 25th dawns bright and clear. Lo and behold! Volume is down to 50%, with Salvation Army, Rescue Mission and Good Will still waiting.

While investigating the facts behind Clean-Up Days, our reporter unearthed some pretty remarkable findings, which may instill in our residents a justifiable feeling of pride. We are exceptional! Our border town on one side has no such service; a border town on another side has just announced the discontinuance of Clean-Up Days forevermore! Let us contemplate the horrid state of life without such a three-day junk collection. With no available dumping facilities nearby, the future appears quite grim for our unfortunate neighbors. When one has no Clean-Up Days to anticipate, what does one DO with one's junk? The major question before us now is: "Can it happen here?" Unthinkable thought! Under such unhealthy circumstances, one can readily imagine a future wherein the population explosion is but a minor problem compared to the junk explosion.

In closing, we submit a suggestion to our respective town fathers. In future years, as our population increases, our needs burgeon, our school walls bulge, and our tax rates rise, please do not give a moment's thought to the abandonment of our clean-up programs and our tax rates rise, please do not give a moment's thought to the abandonment of our clean-up programs. People will gladly PAY to get at that junk! Your end result will be two-fold. Perhaps we'll make a minute profit for the town cents, and we'll clear most of the junk in our batters in the process, without littering so much as a finger.

Even though the pole vault was postponed because of strong winds trying out for this new league. Original plans to have 4 teams in the league were the subject of discussion at the regular monthly meeting of the little league held on Monday May 2, it was enthusiastically decided upon to start out with five teams due to the large number of boys trying out and the high caliber of prospective baseball players. The team managers will conduct a draft night on May 9, and select 15 boys for each team. The boys who are selected will then be notified and the managers and their coaches will then start a training program in preparation for the opening of league play sometime around the 1st of June. Schedules are being drawn up and a field is being prepared at Terrill Junior High School where the league games will be played.

A very successful cannister fund drive was recently completed and the members of the Little League wish to express gratitude to all contributors.
