Rescue Squad, solicit funds for this tool Jaycees hold "Glass Bash" in order to facilitate hang-up and washing, all campaigns presently be recycled. Glass must be separated into clear or colored bottles, green, brown, clear and must be free of all caps, lids, and metal caps. Any type of glass is acceptable. The Jaycees ask for your continued support and cooperation. The cooperation is vitally important for the success of our recycling program.

On August 27, six local organizations presented a "Jaws for Life" to the Scotch Plains Rescue Squad for $2,000.00. The fund drive was sponsored by the Jaycees to raise $4,000.00 for this tool. The drive was also held to raise money for the practice equipment.

The Scotch Plains Jaycees will conduct another "Glass Bash" this Saturday, September 15 as part of their monthly events. The drive was held to support local organizations and to promote cooperation.

The SPFHS band will compete in the 15th Annual Central Jersey High School Band Festival. The festival will take place at Rutgers University Stadium, River Road, New Brunswick. The festival begins at 8:15 P.M. each evening. Features will include band talent, drill teams, and a finale in which over one thousand students assemble in concert for a performance. To the editor:

I recently read in the Elizabeth Daily, format the Whole World Conference on the Waching of China, which was to be held in Princeton, N.J., that the Chairman of the Chinese government was scheduled to attend. The Chinese government has given no indication of whether or not they will attend.

I don't think it's fair to make Chinese people pay for a bus to America when they have no indication of whether or not they will attend.

SUPPORT THE RAIDERS

The opening football game for the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Raider varsity squad is up in a week away. The squad has a new and very enthusiastic coach, who looks forward to a successful season. The Raider Booster Club is preparing for a particularly good year. The group of parent supporters started early this year to draft all the help they could get for meeting the demands of the new school year. The group was also working on the construction of a new field house, which is scheduled to be completed before the end of the season. The boosters are hoping to have the new facility ready for the first home game.

10 Years Ago Today

The Park Avenue Building in Scotch Plains was scheduled to open its doors in 1979, according to plans drawn up in 1969, when the Park Avenue Business Association was formed. The building was to be completed in 1970 and was designed to be a multi-purpose facility, serving the needs of local businesses and residents.

School football games offer a very colorful afternoon of spectator pleasure and enjoyment of the music of an outstanding band. Whether a fan or a lovin supporter, I feel that this game is but a week away. The ensembles of Scotch Plains-Fanwood High School contain a variety of music programs, including bands, choirs, and small groups. The music program is known for its excellence and has won numerous awards over the years.

Three R's

It's difficult to believe that another school year has begun. My young daughter will enter her first grade this year, and in our days it seems like an event in the lives of our children. It is not just the fact that the days are longer, but the fact that the school day is shorter.

There are several things that have changed since our days. For example, we no longer have the privilege of having recess. We now have to spend more time in the classroom, and we have to be more focused on our homework.

Mozart’s - where old-world traditions prevail

Mozart Pastry Shoppes held its grand opening August 10 at the site of the late Ginger Bakery. According to modern day bakery standards, Henry Augenstein is “old-fashioned,” and very proud of it. He and the staff of Mozart, all descendants of the bakery ways of Germany and Switzerland, harken back to the old-time pastry kitchens of the Black Forest area of Germany. The key to their skills is simple: “only pure basic ingredients, no substitutes, no baking done in the metropolitan area. Many food items are very hard to go anywhere; but the exception of all the others is the habit of traveling to Union for fresh sour cherries and apples, but few realize that 75 per cent of the Mozart business is wholesale - going to stores of top locations in the area of retail and restaurants and sporting goods stores.

Now, the Mozart touch will be available here in Scotch Plains. Last week, Mozart Pastry Shoppes held its grand opening in Scotch Plains. Sculpture exhibit opens year for F-SP college club

Marion Markscheid will present a workshop demonstration to the College Club of Fanwood-South Plain. September 17, 8pm in the First United Methodist Church, 1171 Terrill Road, South Plainfield.

Mrs. Markscheid graduated from Montclair State University. She has studied art with numerous great sculptors and at Rutgers University, Newark Museum, Kean College, and the University of Mexico.

She conducted classes for adults, senior citizens, and nine-holers have journey

The Plainfield Country Club nine-hole group had its fifteen winners on September 15. Each member selected his or her partner for the $25 entry and then played the club course. John Breyzik was 1st. Winners on the front nine were: 1st, Mrs. Gordon Amedure, net 35; 2nd, Mrs. Kenneth DeMilt, net 37; and 3rd, Mrs. Wayne Combs, M 34. Winners on the front nine: Tied for first, Mrs. Harold Bland, net 35; 2nd, Mrs. Abbrechi, net 38. On the back nine: 1st, Mrs. Richard Smith, net 37; 2nd, Mrs. Leotaige, net 39. All money raised will be used to cover operating expenses of the Center.

Nine-holers have journey

The Scotch Plains-Fanwood Adult School is offering a senior citizens' demonstration plan this semester. According to the director, Patricia Grasso, "Recognizing that senior citizens have a special need to remain involved with lifelong learning, the Scotch Plains-Fanwood Adult Education, through its adult school, is making many courses available to centenarians."

Residents of Scotch Plains and Fanwood who are 45 years or over may enroll in many courses at a reduced fee," said Mr. Grasso. The courses given described in the Fall Adult School brochure are open to all homes. They include courses ranging from art, sculpture, drawing, and graphics, to A care and Repair. The center also conducts programs and events for children which includes Art, Music, Drama, Dance, and Reading.

Mrs. Markscheid will present "Brass, Pewter, & Woodenware for Your Home" on the following dates:
- September 17, 8pm
- September 24, 8pm
- September 30, 8pm

The next scheduled meeting of the SPCC is September 17, 8pm. The next scheduled meeting is September 19, 8pm and the Westfield Summer Workshop for the community at the Westfield Summer Workshop.

The new Penal Code went into effect on Monday, September 11. The old code was invalidated by a ruling of the New Jersey Supreme Court last month. The new code replaces the old code, which was in effect from the adoption of the New Jersey constitution in 1847 to 1977. The new code is the result of a comprehensive review of the existing code, including a study of the effectiveness of the existing code, a review of the current state of the law, and a consideration of the goals and objectives of the new code. The new code is intended to be a more comprehensive and effective code, one that is more easily understood and more easily applied. The new code is also intended to be more concise and to be more easily updated, in order to accommodate the changing needs of society.

Chief Rossi cites new penal code

Plains Police Chief Michael Rossi recently cited the new penal code as one of the most significant changes in the law in recent years. Chief Rossi said that the new code is a more comprehensive and effective code, one that is more easily understood and more easily applied. The new code is also intended to be more concise and to be more easily updated, in order to accommodate the changing needs of society.

The new code includes a number of significant changes, including a new classification system for crimes, a new classification system for defendants, a new classification system for judges, and a new classification system for juries. The new classification system for crimes is intended to be more comprehensive and to be more easily understood, in order to accommodate the changing needs of society.

The new classification system for defendants is intended to be more comprehensive and to be more easily understood, in order to accommodate the changing needs of society. The new classification system for judges is intended to be more comprehensive and to be more easily understood, in order to accommodate the changing needs of society. The new classification system for juries is intended to be more comprehensive and to be more easily understood, in order to accommodate the changing needs of society.

WILL YOU BE INTERESTED IN A SEASON SUBSCRIPTION TO THE NEW JERSEY THEATRE FORUM?

The future looks more promising and exciting for one initiative and referendum in State. Assemblyman Donald T. DiFrancesco (D-Union), chairman of the New Jersey Assembly's Rules Committee, has announced that an initiative and referendum on the use of initiative and referendum in State government will be held in November, 1979. The initiative and referendum measure will allow the use of initiative and referendum in State government.

The measure will allow citizens to propose legislation directly to the people, without having to go through the traditional legislative process. The initiative and referendum process has been used successfully in many states, including Ohio, California, and Washington.

Temple establishes plan for single-parent family

Temple Sholom has established a new category of members for single-parent families. Aware of the unique financial burden which single parents face, and the importance of providing children a wide choice of after-school activities, the Temple has established a new membership plan.
Computer learning will soon be a reality for children ages 8 through 15, as the Center for Computer Learning offers a program that will be available in the Plains-Fanwood area. The Center will utilize microcomputers as its medium for teaching computer programming, providing remediation in reading, writing, and mathematics, and responding to the needs of gifted and talented children.

With computers having been a part of our lives for quite a while now, their potential for education has been virtually untapped. The staff of the Center of Computer Learning possess the expertise, experience, and understanding necessary to make the most of this potential and turn it into a rewarding and exciting learning experience for the child. The love and means of the computer provides unparalleled opportunities which further enhances the impact of this highly effective program.

Children may choose from among three courses, each designed to meet specific educational objectives. In one course, children will learn a common language which will enable them to write programs and solve practical problems. In another, the reading, writing, and math curriculum of the elementary school is presented in a computer format. In the third course, students who have difficulty in reading, writing, and/or math will develop their understanding and problem solving skills.

With available permanent Wavefield location, the Center will temporarily operate from Mr. Schumaker's on Central Avenue in the new area. The curriculum will be computer-based, but also involves some hands-on activities and a considerable degree of reading and writing. Costs for the course are $40 per week for students who are already enrolled in a Wavefield class, and $75 per week for those students, who are not enrolled in a Wavefield class. For a complete registry call 332-9030. The program will begin on September 17th and continue through the winter months.

Mark Friedlich, President of the E. Clay Friedlich, Inc., Realtors, local Gallery of Homes, will be on hand to answer questions about the program and the center.

The third, and perhaps most exciting course, will be the enrichment component. The Center has an extensive, well-rounded curriculum that provides remediation in reading, writing, and math at a time when most students have difficulty. The curriculum is designed to meet specific needs of students who have difficulty in reading, writing, and math.

While visiting a permanent Wavefield location, the Center will temporarily operate from Mr. Schumaker's on Central Avenue in this new area, 153 of the Garden State Parkway. This site is not only convenient for students who are already enrolled in a Wavefield class, but also provides easy access, parking, and a comfortable setting.
