Susanna Wesley To be Recalled At Church Program

SCOTCH PLAINS - The First United Methodist Church of Scotch Plains has invited the community to attend "Just Susanna," a solo presentation by Roberta Nobleman, on Sunday, November 4, at 7 p.m. in the church sanctuary, located at 1171 Terrill Road.

Ms. Nobleman will appear in the role of Susanna Wesley, the mother of the founder of Methodism. As such, she will describe the trials, tribulations, joys and blessings that made up her life.

Born in England, Ms. Nobleman specializes in one-woman performances. She studied theater at the London Theater School and the Sorbonne. After her marriage and move to New Jersey in 1970, she taught at Fairleigh Dickinson, Montclair State and Kean universities.

There is no admission charge for this program, which is geared toward children and adults. Parking is available to the side and rear of the building. For further information, please call (908) 322-9222 or (908) 322-8632.

County will collect food to benefit local food banks during the annual GoodTurn called "Scouting For Food." On the weekend of November 10, parent-supervised scouts will distribute specially-marked bags or descriptive requests to homes in their assigned neighborhoods.

Homeowners are asked to fill a bag with nourishing, non-perishable, non-in-glass food products that can be stocked at a food pantry, and put the bags out for pickup early on the following Saturday, November 17 (unless a different time is called for in a note with the bag).

The scouts will return to the same homes they visited previously to take the bags to a local food pantry. The donations will be used to prepare Thanksgiving baskets and to serve needy families throughout the winter.

Scout units participating in the food drive at this time are part of the Mountainside-based Patriots' Path Council of Boy Scouts of America.

Red Cross Chapter Assists Those Touched by Tragedy

WESTFIELD - The Westfield/Mountainside Chapter of the American Red Cross is currently providing assistance to the eight local families who lost loved ones in the September 11 terrorist attacks.

In addition to financial assistance, support has been given in the form of counseling to address grief and healing. Red Cross mental health workers are paying special attention to the children affected by the catastrophe.

Based on individual needs assessed by the Chapter Family Service Team, the Red Cross has also provided immediate cash grants for funeral expenses and the payment of household bills. Tax-free financial assistance will continue, as further needs are determined.

Transportation, lodging and maintenance costs for family members required to travel to support loved ones were also covered. Representatives from the local chapter attended memorial services and Red Cross volunteers provided refreshments for mourners and police.

Counseling is available for anyone who is experiencing symptoms of post-traumatic stress or depression.

Individuals may call the Westfield/Mountainside Red Cross chapter at (908) 232-7090 or the national Red Cross toll-free "compassion, assistance and information hotline" at 1-866-438-4636.

The hotline is staffed 24 hours a day, seven days a week. Since the crisis began, the local Red Cross office, located at 321 Elm Street in Westfield, has also been open seven days a week.

In response to recent threats made by terrorists, the Westfield chapter has compiled an extensive list of Disaster Services volunteers, categorized by skills.

Introduction to Disaster Services Training and Mass Care courses have been given at the chapter and will continue as course registration is filled. First Aid and Cardiopulmonary Resuscitation training are also ongoing.

Two newly-trained Disaster Services volunteers, Randye Maisel and Mary Alice Ryan of Westfield, recently traveled to Jersey City to help families at the New Jersey Family Assistance Center established by Acting Governor Donald T. DiFrancesco.

The Westfield/Mountainside chapter reported that its October 10 blood drive was a success. Another drive is scheduled for Wednesday, December 12. Individuals interested in donating blood to meet future needs are asked to call the chapter to be put on a list.

American Red Cross disaster assistance is provided to people in need free of charge. Anyone who could benefit from these services may call the Westfield chapter at (908) 232-7090.

Individuals interested in volunteering are also asked to contact the chapter. There is currently a particular need to register skilled medical workers, nurses and physicians.

For more information on how families can prepare for a disaster, please visit www.redcross.org. Households are encouraged to create an emergency communications plan, establish a meeting place, assemble a disaster supplies kit and check the children's school emergency plan. Brochures on these topics are available at the Westfield/Mountainside Red Cross chapter.
