Union County Holds
Take 'Daughters
to Work Day'

AREA - "Little by little the list of career choices for girls as well as boys is expanding," said Union County Freeholder Vice Chairwoman Mary Ruotolo.

"Union County strives to present a variety of occupations for the girls' consideration at the annual Take Our Daughters To Work Day. This year, one of the options was to learn about becoming a park naturalist, an environmental educator whose responsibilities include educating the public about the natural world, research and surveys of plants and wildlife and their interaction."

Following a hayride from the Trailside Nature and Science Center in Mountainside to Seeley's Pond, the girls and their adults became naturalists for the day using nets to explore aquatic life in the pond and nearby tributary.
