WESTFIELD — The Downtown Westfield Corporation (DWC) elected David Martone as its new chairman during Tuesday night's Board of Directors re-organization meeting. "Thank you for the nomination. I humbly accept and I will try and take this board to the next level," Mr. Martone said.

Other appointments included Joe Spector as Vice-Chairman, David Capodanno as Treasurer and Dominic Verdic as Secretary. Lee Hale was welcomed to the board as a resident member.

The main focus of the meeting was to address the goals and objectives for the upcoming year.

DWC Executive Director Sherry Cronin stated, "A special focus will be on keeping the downtown cleaner."

The board discussed the Blue Machine owned by the town, which was estimated to have cost approximately $25,000. The machine is a self-propelled sidewalk cleaner that has been out of service for some time.

Special Officer John Morgan stated that the machine "is in the garage requiring parts." He continued stating, "It's a matter of making that (the repair) a budget item."

Mrs. Cronin stated, "My complaint is not in the trash receptacle pick-up, it is in other areas." She added that she would like to see a "pan and broom litter pickup" two days a week.

Mr. Spector suggested educating the business owners about what they need to do to keep the areas around their businesses clean.

Board member Frank Arena asked, "Does the town have a description or details (regarding litter management) they share with you?"

Projected BOE Budget Hike at 4.85 Percent

By ED COONEY
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

WESTFIELD — Westfield Board of Education Secretary Robert Berman revealed at the board's meeting Tuesday night that the town's school district budget for the 2005-2006 school year will see a proposed increase of 4.85 percent over the current school year.

The increase, which is down from last year's increase of almost 6 percent, is "considerably lower" than usual, said Mr. Berman.

The state of New Jersey allows for an increase of 3.01 percent over the previous year's budget, which would account for an increase of $2,090,427.

Additionally, the Westfield school district is entitled to seek spending growth adjustments in the amount of $1,100,172 to cope with growing enrollment and $180,000 to offset the cost of special education services.

Projections indicate that the school district could have as many as 80 to 85 additional students for the 2005-2006 school year.

"We are still seeing enrollment growth, but we are managing it well," said Board member Kimberly Rhodes.

In total, the district will seek $1,280,172 in spending growth adjustments.

Adding the allowed increase of 3.01 percent and the amount to be sought in spending growth adjustments to this year's base budget equals a budget increase of $3,370,599, officials said.

The total budget cap for the 2005-2006 school year budget is $72,820,015. At this point, the proposed budget comes in at a total of $72,982,339, which is $162,324 over the cap.

Mr. Berman noted that cuts would have to be made, saying, "We cannot do everything we want to do."

The main expenditures involved in this year's budget are medical insurance for district employees, tuition costs for out-of-district placement of special education students, utilities for the district's various facilities, and contractual obligations towards staff, Mr. Berman said.

In addition, a new guidance counselor is being budgeted for Westfield High School (WHS), a full-time teacher will be hired to instruct the district's first class for autistic students, new computers need to be purchased for the second grade, and a number of capital projects need to be was happy with the salary increase, but explained, "What everyone is happiest about is that health benefits stayed intact. That was a big negotiation point."

Ms. Maraffi told The Westfield Leader that considering Mountainside's socioeconomic level, teachers are "trying to move up a little bit in the county."

She added that 47 percent of Mountainside teachers are untenured, and said she would like to see that figure improved. In other business, the board approved an application to carry-over funds dedicated to the borough for the federal government's No Child Left Behind program from the 2004 fiscal year in the amount of $7,060.

Board Secretary Paul Vizzuso told The Leader that grants can normally be carried over for one year unless otherwise indicated in the language of the grant program.

Ferguson Describes Region Hit By Tsunami Like A War Zone; Proud of Troops for Relief Efforts

By HORACE CORBIN, PAUL PEYTON, SUZETTE STALKER AND BETSEY BURG DORF
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

COLUMBO, SRI LANKA — In a live telephone interview from South Asia on Monday morning, Congressman Michael Ferguson described for The Westfield Leader the devastation wrought by the tsunami on December 26 and the collective efforts by individuals from around the globe to help victims of the disaster.

Congressman Ferguson and his delegation, which included U.S. Senator Jon Corzine, received a firsthand account of the devastation that struck the region, where "It's as bad as could be imagined — a war zone; everything blown to smithereens," he remarked.

The congressman left Dulles International Airport in Washington, D.C. on Thursday night, traveling all day Friday, and arrived on Saturday to board a military cargo plane for a three-hour trip en route to the aircraft carrier Abraham Lincoln.

"This (the air trip) was not for luxury traveling. We had life preservers on, along with helmets, earplugs under our earphones, goggles and we were strapped in so tight I could not get a deep breath," the congressman said. He described the landing on the carrier as "like a severe roller coaster."

On Saturday, Mr. Ferguson took a helicopter tour of Banda Aceh.

"We landed at the airstrip in Banda Aceh, where they are bringing in most of the supplies and then distributing them to the camps which have been set up," he said.

He emphasized that United States military helicopters are getting the supplies where they need to go. The congressman noted that a U.S. Navy Seahawk helicopter carrying relief supplies to the region crashed Monday, but fortunately all 10-crew members survived.

Survivors have been spread out in camps. Officials on the ground feel that by spreading out the camps they will be able to reduce the spread of disease. Congressman Ferguson noted that U.S. helicopters are getting supplies the victims of the devastated areas.

While in Banda Aceh, Congressman Ferguson met with a high government official/Indonesian minister and some local military and reviewed relief efforts. The delegation then re-boarded choppers to take another aerial tour of Banda Aceh before heading back to the Abraham Lincoln.

Mr. Ferguson and the delegation had breakfast on Sunday with United States Ambassador to the Republic of Indonesia, B. Lynn Pascoe, to discuss relief efforts and the general political situation in Indonesia and what role the U.S. is playing and might play in the future.

Next, the congressman flew to Bangkok, Thailand where he stayed at the U.S. Embassy for meetings that covered a range of topics including malaria-related healthcare crisis in Aceh, anti-terrorism efforts underway countrywide, HIV/AIDS, and the efforts to combat child trafficking.

On Monday, Congressman Ferguson met with Dr. Sandy Waran, a friend from New Jersey who is a native of Colombo, and others who are coordinating relief efforts of their own.

Congressman Ferguson said New Jerseyans should continue their support of the relief effort through financial donations and by contributing supplies, as well as their prayers for the survivors and those who were lost lives in the tsunami.

He explained that the most serious threats currently are outbreaks of malaria, cholera, and hepatitis. In this

Town to Purchase 14 Pay Stations; Looks to Add Spaces in Downtown, Honor Late Town Clerk

By PAUL PEYTON
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

WESTFIELD — In the aftermath of the defeat of plans for parking garages, the town is now looking at more minor fixes previously discussed to increase downtown parking capacity.

The town will increase the number of pay stations in the downtown will look once again at plans to gain additional spaces at existing municipal lots.

The council is set to vote on Tuesday, January 20, to grant a $175,000 contract to Metric Parking of Lyndhurst to purchase 14 pay stations. The stations will be installed in lot 5 behind the Rialto Theatre (replacing existing pay stations with more modern equipment), in lot 4 behind Baron's Drug Store and Victoria's Secret, in lot 7 across from the Westfield Post Office on Central Avenue, and lot 2 on North Avenue at the Westfield Train Station.

Town Administrator Jim Gildea explained that the town is also looking to once again look at plans to make what currently are lots 1 and 8 on Elm and Prospect Streets into one lot. Mr. Gildea said by reconfiguring the lots the town could pick up another 22 spaces. Also, by reconfiguring the train station lot another dozen spaces could be generated.

On a related issue, the a divided council opted to hold off taking action on an ordinance next week that would have eased up parking restrictions on a section of Stoneleigh Park, located near Westfield High School.

In other business, Mr. Gildea said the town has been in discussion with the Township of Scotch Plains for a plan to allow residents of the township to purchase permits to utilize Westfield's conservation center on Lamberts Mill Road.

Third Ward Councilman Mark Ciarrocca called the proposed shared services agreement, "one of the most important issues we face." He said with costs for recycling operations

Swastika Drawn on Forehead Of Baby Jesus in Crèche

By SUZETTE F. STALKER
Specially Written for The Westfield Leader

WESTFIELD — Vandals struck the crèche display at the Westfield train station on North Avenue sometime late last week, damaging five spotlights and drawing a swastika on the forehead of the Baby Jesus figure in the manger.

It was the second time an outdoor nativity scene has been targeted in Westfield recently — last week, the Baby Jesus was reported stolen from the crèche in front of Saint Helen's Roman Catholic Church on Rahway Avenue. The statue, valued at $500 in financial terms, has not yet been recovered.

The train station display is sponsored by the Knights of Columbus. It was discovered vandalized by one of the Knights members and reported to police at 9 a.m. last Saturday.

Lieutenant John Parizeau of the Westfield Police Department stated the swastika had been drawn on the Christ child figure's face in black ink. He confirmed that the incident remains under investigation.

He said there have been no other recent incidents reported in the town involving sacred images or houses of worship being defaced with swastikas or other such symbols. Anyone with information is asked to call the Westfield Police Department at (908) 789-4000. All calls will be kept confidential.

WESTFIELD POLICE BLOTTER

WEDNESDAY, JANUARY 5

Joseph Kolar, 21, of Garwood was arrested and charged with driving while intoxicated after being involved in a motor vehicle accident. Police believe he crashed his vehicle into a fence on the southbound side of Central Avenue. Kolar, who was not injured, was released on his own recognizance to a responsible adult.

THURSDAY, JANUARY 6

George C. Clarke, 44, of Watchung was arrested in the 400 block of South Avenue, West, on charges of aggravated assault on a police officer, resisting arrest, obstructing administration of law and possession of a weapon.

Westfield police questioned Clarke regarding a house arrest order from the Newark Federal Court mandating he be home by 9 p.m., which had already past that evening. Clarke allegedly struck one of the officers about the face with a closed fist, after which he was taken into custody. A check of the suspect's motor vehicle uncovered a six-inch hunting knife, police said.

The officer whom Clarke is charged with striking was treated at police headquarters. Clarke was being held on $100,000 bail at the Union County Jail on the Westfield charges, and was to be turned over to United States marshals.

FRIDAY, JANUARY 7

Luis Valladares, 25, of North Plainfield was arrested at Prospect Street and charged with driving while intoxicated, driving without a license, careless driving and leaving the scene of an accident.

Valladares is believed to have left the scene of a one-car accident at Newton Place and Elm Street shortly before his arrest. There were no injuries. He was released on his own recognizance to a responsible adult.

SATURDAY, JANUARY 8

Onur Tezucar, 23, of Westfield was arrested at First Street and charged with driving while intoxicated after being stopped for speeding. He was released on his own recognizance to a responsible adult.

A Summit Avenue resident reported being assaulted inside his home by three unwanted male guests who had crashed a social gathering. The victim sustained cuts, scratches and a chipped tooth. Police advised him of the procedure for filing a complaint.

A burglary was reported at a business in the 1000 block of South Avenue, West, in which unknown persons $220 in cash from the register.

SUNDAY, JANUARY 9

Kevin Lantz, 19, of Westfield and a 15-year-old male juvenile from Clark were arrested during a motor vehicle stop in the 900 block of Central Avenue and charged with possession of suspected cocaine and possession of alcohol by an underage person. The juvenile also was charged with possession of less than 50 grams of suspected marijuana.

Lantz was released on his own recognizance with a summons, while the juvenile was turned over to an adult.

An attempted burglary occurred at a South Avenue delicatessen. Entry to the premises was not gained.

A burglary was reported at a second delicatessen, also on South Avenue, in which $150 in cash and a large amount of cigarettes were taken.

considered by the board's Facilities Committee, Mr. Berman explained.

Richard Solomon, chairman of the board's Finance Committee, expressed satisfaction with the progress being made on the budget thus far.

"We're in much better shape this year than we have been at this time the last few years," he said.

The board will continue public discussions of the 2005-2006 up to and after its due date on Friday, March 4.

Special education will be discussed on Tuesday, February 1, Fine Arts and Athletics on Tuesday, February membership, and a $5 increase to $75 for a senior membership.

For non-resident families the increase is proposed at $30 to total $440 for a non-resident single membership. The increase for non-resident senior memberships is proposed at $15 to total $220 for single memberships and $180 for senior memberships.

The committee is also proposing that the non-resident initiation fee be increased by $5 to total $35 for a family and $20 for a single, respectively.

The governing body stated that an ordinance outlining these fees will be introduced at next week's public council meeting on Tuesday, January 18.

It was also noted that next week an ordinance will also be introduced to advertise for the positions of pool manager and assistant pool manager.

Lastly, the mayor and council reported that because certified paper is now a safety paper that cannot be duplicated and is numerically ordered by the state, receiving a certified copy of something from the borough will now cost $15 a sheet as opposed to the old fee of $5.

8, and Technology and Personnel will on the agenda at the board's next public meeting on Tuesday, January 25, following the Curriculum and Capital Projects portions of the budget on Tuesday, February 15.

Following the board's discussion of the budget, it was approached by Laurie Mace, a Westfield resident representing a group of parents concerned with the budgetary impact of a benefit clause in the contracts of all Westfield teachers stating that regardless of residence, the teachers' children may be educated in the Westfield school district.

These students, of whom there are currently 27 in the district, are paid for out of the same budget as all other students, officials said.

Ms. Mace told the board that "their tax dollars should go to educating the students living in the district."

Also, Ms. Mace pointed out that these students might be taking up spots on students' teams with limited numbers of players that could instead be allotted to students living in the district.

Superintendent of Schools Dr. William Foley responded by telling Ms. Mace that the clause is a "negotiable item" in the union contract that "it is something we can consider as part of our negotiation" with the union.

After one year, any balance must be returned to the government agency issuing the grant, he said. The original amount of the grant was $17,113.

Mountainside teachers Patricia Bruce, Kelly Schundler and Joseph Ricca, Jr. were approved by the board to take classes at Kean University in Union at the school budget's expense.

Mrs. Cronin stated that the last time the DWC received a listing of all services the town provides was in 1997.

"They put a lot more emphasis on the downtown than they do now," Mrs. Cronin concluded.

The board agreed they would like to set up a meeting between the DWC and Town Council Public Works Committee Chairwoman Jo Ann Neylan to discuss a plan to keep the downtown clean.

In other news, the DWC is discussing the coordination of a promotional event with the PGA Tour to be held at Baltusrol Golf Club located in Springfield. The event, which will be a weeklong tournament in August, is expected to attract approximately 40,000 attendees per day.

The DWC discussed creating a special promotional event that will focus on Westfield as a destination after the event.

Mr. Hale commented via conference call that the promotion will target, "key people who will be looking for something to do in addition to going to the tournament."

A list of 2004 major accomplishments was also presented with the achievement of the Great American Main Street Award as the biggest accomplishment. Other highlights included the increased number of Sweet Sounds Downtown Jazz nights, the design and installation of the kiosk, the completion of the Rialto Park project and the increased historic preservation and high visibility projects such as Lancasters, Ltd., Mademoiselle and the Northside Trattoria.

Mrs. Cronin also asked the board to approve an idea to raise funds for the tsunami victims in Southeast Asia.

She said the DWC has a surplus of Great American Main Street Award cups that she would like to place at Vicki's Diner.

Diners would be able to purchase the cups along with a drink or by themselves for $2. The board unanimously approved the idea. The owner of Vicki's Diner had already approved the placement of the cups at her business.

The next meeting of the DWC will be on Monday, February 28. All meetings are held at the DWC offices located at 105 Elm Street.

Avenue, Canterbury Road, Lawrence Avenue, and Elm Street.

Town Engineer Kenneth Marsh assured the council that the homes were on lots that were could not be sub-divided. Thus, the homes would be replaced by single-family homes.

Mayor Gregory McDermott and council members agreed with a proposal by former Councilman Neil Sullivan and others to plant a cherry tree in front of the municipal building as a memorial to Bernard Heeny, Westfield's town clerk the past five years, who died of a heart attack on New Year's Eve. A plaque will also be included to note Mr. Heeny's quarter century of service to the town.

Mr. Gildea said the proposal follows past town tradition to plant cherry trees in honor of veterans. Mr. Heeny, who resided in Bayonne, served in Vietnam and was active in veteran associations.

Although donations could be raised privately, Councilman Betancourt said he believed the cost of the tree could come out of town funds.

Garner Will Portray Inventor At Redeemer Lutheran School

WESTFIELD - Students at Redeemer Lutheran School, located at 229 Cowperthwaite Place in Westfield, will welcome Montclair actor, Patrick Garner, who will portray inventor Thomas Alva Edison during a special open house presentation, "Thomas Edison: Inventor, Lecturer & Frankster" on Friday, January 21, at 7 p.m.

In a recreation of the lectures Edison gave in his later years, Mr. Garner will recount the inventor's life and demonstrate models of some of his greatest inventions - the light bulb and phonograph. Student volunteers, serving as "Edison's Insomnia Squad", will assist him.

Mr. Garner said, "What I feel is most important, though, is passing on to the students the lessons Edison felt this work regard, the congressman will be in contact with New Jersey pharmaceutical companies to see if they are able to make antibiotics and medical supplies available to tsunami survivors.

The threat of disease is widespread due to the uncharacteristic wet conditions, Congressman Ferguson said. Although floodwaters have receded, pools of water remain and provide perfect conditions for the onset of an epidemic such as malaria.

Congress will vote soon on a supplemental package to aid those countries impacted by the tsunami, Mr. Ferguson stated. President George W. Bush has pledged $350 million in aid to the region.

"The individual response from the United States is quite evident, very generous," the congressman said.

He noted the "first-hand" evidence he witnessed from the air and on the ground would assist him and other members of Congress that made the trip in analyzing where resources need to be directed.

"It's important not to just throw money at a problem," he stated.

In the coming weeks, the congressman will visit schools and hold Town Hall meetings throughout the Seventh Congressional District in an effort to increase statewide relief efforts already underway.

He expressed awe at how individuals from different cultural, political and religious backgrounds have come together to aid the tsunami victims, adding how it reminded him of the way people from all walks of life joined forces following the September 11 attacks on the United States.

"No one cares about the differences, (between countries) they are more concerned with assisting those in need. This tragedy is an opportunity for the future of this country," Congressman Ferguson said. "It is an opportunity for reconciliation."

He was also profoundly affected by how proud the people of the area are and their unwillingness to take handouts even in the wake of such sizable destruction. The victims expressed their desire to work for the aid they were receiving, as charity is difficult for them to accept. As a result, Congressman Ferguson is trying to have boats repaired or replaced for fishermen so they can go back to work.

He said as floodwaters recede, debris and destruction can be seen everywhere. Volunteers are packaging materials daily for survivors living in camps and temples and distributing them to the victims.

"It's extraordinary how people have put aside their differences to assist people in need," Congressman Ferguson commented. "(We're discovering) things that used to divide us really don't matter at all."

Congressman Ferguson said the relief teams, particularly the United States military, are making a difference. He said their morale is high as they are eager to do and give everything they have to the relief effort.

"I'm so proud of soldiers, our young people - their morale is high," he said.

The crew of Abraham Lincoln has been "very impressive," he said. He said crewmembers on the aircraft carrier constantly stop their captain, asking when they can go to shore to help.

He remarked that the aircraft carrier is "amazing" in that it can produce drinking water from seawater. It has an excess capacity of 79,000 gallons per day and that this production of drinking water is being delivered to the disaster victims.

Congressman Ferguson noted that the United States military has been there for two weeks providing help. He said United Nations relief workers just started showing up this week.

Franklin Geography Bee Won by Markey Frega

WESTFIELD - Markey Frega, a fourth grader at Franklin Elementary School in Westfield, won the school-level competition of the National Geographic Bee on January 5 and a chance at a $25,000 scholarship.

Ross Workman, a fifth grader, came in second and another fifth grader, Alexander Zimmerman, placed third.

The school-level competition, at which students answered oral questions on geography during an assembly, was the first round in the 16th annual National Geographic Bee, sponsored by the National Geographic Society.

The contest kicked off on the week of November 15, with thousands of schools around the United States and in the five U.S. territories participating.

At Franklin School, competitions were first held in all fourth and fifth grade classrooms, culminating in a school-wide competition.

Markey, and winners from other schools nationwide, will now take a written test. As many as 100 of the top scorers in each state and territory will be eligible to compete in their state Bee on Friday, April 1.

The National Geographic Society will provide an all-expense paid trip to Washington, D.C. for state champions and teacher-escorts to participate in the National Geographic Bee national championship on Tuesday and Wednesday, May 24 and 25. The first place national winner will receive a $25,000 college scholarship and a lifetime membership to the society.

"Jeopardy!" host Alex Trebek will moderate the national finals on Thursday, May 25. The program will air on the National Geographic Channel, and afterward on public television stations, produced by Maryland Public Television.
