

STARLITE, STAR BRIGHT...The Starlite Chorale will present "All On A Starry Night," its winter concert, featuring traditional Christmas carols and popular and some long-forgotten songs. Featuring a number of local members from Westfield and Scotch Plains, the Starlite Chorale will start the Christmas season at the Oceola Church in Clark on December 1 and 3.

Starlite Chorale to Perform Annual Christmas Concert

AREA - The 12th annual Christmas Concert of the Starlite Chorale, "All On A Starry Night," will take place on Friday evening, December 1, at 8 p.m. and Sunday afternoon, December 3, at 4:30 p.m. at the Oceola Presbyterian Church, on 1689 Raritan Road in Clark near Garden State Parkway exit 136.

When the musical director since the group's founding nearly 30 years ago, also performing are the Starlite Sparklers, a children's group, and the Handbell Choir, under the direction of David Jules.

The "All On A Starry Night" program will include some traditional favorites such as "Silent Night," "Martin and Blane's 'Have Yourself a Merry Little Christmas'" and Anderson and Parish's "Sleigh Ride." Some not-so-well-known Christmas tunes will include a 14th-century German song "In Dulci Jubilate," an American spiritual "Round the Glory Manger," "Glory to God in the Highest" by Mark Hayes and "Christmas is the Best Time of Year" by Don and Lori Marsh.

Traditionally there is a sing-along with the audience and the program ending with three favorites "Lord of the Dance," "We Wish You a Merry Christmas" and "Auld Land Syne."

The Starlite Chorale, a 16- to 24-member auditioned group, includes residents from Union County, including Scotch Plains and Westfield.

Tickets for "All On A Starry Night" are $12 for adults, $10 for seniors and children are free. For reservations call (973) 667-5878.
