fifth annual Knights of Columbus Westfield Invitational Tournament. The tournament is scheduled for Memorial Day weekend, May 25-28. The competition will be the first chance for local traveling squads to test their talents in tournament play.

Council 1711, located in Westfield, sponsors the event. Last year, the tournament raised thousands of dollars for local food pantries, youth baseball programs and children's charities.

The tournament will focus on inclusiveness and sportsmanship.

"While many tournaments have an emphasis on fierce competition and travel, ours has a local flavor and a purpose that you can do a good deed and have fun at the same time," tournament co-director George Lanzano added. "We are most encouraged by the continued enthusiasm for these goals and the support for local charities by our parents, players and Council volunteers."

The Knights will seek to raise money through the sale of refreshments, T-shirts and prizes including premium box seats for Mets and Yankees games, prizes from local merchants, autographed baseball memorabilia, vintage press photos, youth baseball equipment and more.

Teams ages 11 and 12 will compete in single-elimination play after three seeding games are held during the tournament's first two days. All games will be held at Gumbert Fields on South Chestnut Street. Games are scheduled to start at 5:30 p.m., Friday, May 25.
