

Cancer Expert to Give Talk In Hale Series on June 10

WESTFIELD — Dr. Darlene Gibbon, a Westfield resident, will speak about “Personalized Medicine: What Targeted Therapy Will Mean for Cancer Care” in a lecture on Tuesday, June 10, at the Westfield Memorial Library. The library is located at 550 East Broad Street.

A researcher and chief of gynecologic oncology at Rutgers Cancer Institute of New Jersey, Dr. Gibbon will discuss what a new approach of precisely targeting genomic mutations will mean for cancer care.

The talk, starting at 7 p.m., is part of the seventh annual Anne and Lee Hale Speaker Series and will be hosted by the Friends of the Westfield Memorial Library. Those wishing to attend are asked to pre-register by going to wmlnj.org and clicking on the Online Calendar, or by calling (908) 789-4090, extension 0.

Dr. Gibbon received her medical degree from the State University of

New York Health Science Center in Brooklyn, N.Y. She also is an associate professor of obstetrics, gynecology and reproductive sciences at Robert Wood Johnson Medical School. In her role at the Cancer Institute, she has oversight for clinical, surgical and research objectives in gynecologic oncology.

Prior to joining the Cancer Institute, Dr. Gibbon worked for four years as a gynecologic oncologist at Strong Memorial Hospital, University of Rochester.

The popular lecture series is named in honor of Anne Hale, a library patron who passed away in 2007, and her husband, Lee, who was long active in community affairs until he died last year.
