WHS Students Earn Honors In Italian National Exam

WESTFIELD — Students from Westfield High School (WHS) participated in the Italian National Exam competing against students from 105 schools across 20 states. The exam, consisting of four levels (four being the highest level), was taken by more than 5,000 students. A total of 24 Westfield High School students who study the Italian language received honorable mention: Italian 4 — Anna Centrella, Megan Pinna, and Kim Roth; Italian 3 — Lauren Androconis, Megan Bluffield, Grace Cook, Sarah Freer, Kyle Jason, Keira Loftus, Natalie Marcotullio, Melanie Nettle, and Michela Sabba; Italian 2 — Ashley Abbott, John Ciarrocca, Julia DiBella, Frank Guerriero, Michael Masciale, Kathleen Nogan, Claudia Savickas, and James Sciortino; and Italian 1 — Samantha Della Fera, Nick De Pinto, Christina Di Bella, and Nicholas Lawrie.

"We are proud of the progress that our students of the Italian language and culture have been making and congratulate them on their successful scores on the Italian National Exam," stated K-12 World Language Supervisor David Greer. "We are glad that their hard work and dedication, supported by the efforts of their teachers Maria Santilli and Lauren Conroy, have earned these students from WHS recognition on a national level," he added.

Burton Honored by Society of Analytical Chemists

PITTSBURGH, Pa. — Abigail Burton received the College Chemistry Award from the Society of Analytical Chemists at the annual awards dinner on May 7 at Duquesne University in Pittsburgh. In addition, Abigail will be recognized through a monetary award presented to the Carnegie Mellon University Library in her honor, along with an engraved nameplate. Abigail is a member of Phi Beta Kappa, Phi Kappa Phi, Lambda Sigma Service honor societies, Chemistry Student Advisory Committee and the recipient of university and department honors. She is a graduate of Westfield High School, Class of 2010, and the daughter of Allen and Barbara Burton.

GOING GREEN...On May 9, Deerfield School in Mountainside held a Creatively Green Family Arts Festival for students in grades 3-5. The program was made possible through a $10,000 Young Audiences New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania, and NRG Energy, Inc. grant. Deerfield School was selected as one of the five winning schools out of 18 that applied from New Jersey and Eastern Pennsylvania. The program, which featured Young Audiences artists gave students a chance to celebrate imagination and creativity while promoting a better understanding of individual and community responsibility to protect the planet.
